Newport, R. L. May 2. The court method of the conclusion that the fair opens, and will then determined the conclusion of the court-Martial. will be even more successful than has been anticipated by the most sanguine.
Offers of cash contributions and donations of merchandise have already been received from all sides. The Executive Committee, which has its headquarters at No. 734 Phird avenue, and at the Grand Central Palace, and the various county organizations will take care of all merchandise.

At the request of the Executive Commitand of Colonel William L. Brown, treasurer of the fair, the Journal will receive all cash contributions that the friends and well-wishers of the fair may desire to send in. The fund subscribed in this manner will be turned over to Colonel Brown at the close of the fair.

Will Acknowledge Daily.

Acknowledgments of the contributions will be made from day to day in the Journal as they are received. Checks should be made payable to W. R. Hearst, Irish Pair Fund. Checks may be sent by mail Armagh Ladies' and Armagh Men's addressed to W. R. Hearst, Sunday Journal, 238 William street. Persons desiring to nake their subscriptions in cash may do so by calling at the office of the cashier of the Journal, third floor, No. 154 Nassau street, where receipts in proper form will

The results of his trip, as already announced by him by cable and mall, were of a character to show that his success in curing interesting exhibits entirely out of the ordinary had been phenomenal.

From the nature of things, the Journal's amissioner had very little time to send elaborate reports from the other side. He left New York on St. Patrick's Day, and had to arrange his plants so that he could get back here by about May 1, in order to prepare the exhibits collected by him in time for the opening of the fair. This gave him only about thirty days in which cover Ireland, and in order to do it in that time he had to be on the jump prac-tically day and night. But in spite of the aged to get up what is undoubtedly the most interesting Irish display ever seen in this or any other country, and the Jour-nal's booth is certain to attract not alone the attention of Irish-Americans, but of people of all other nationalities as well.

Western Hemisphere, We know that our country people will true to the history and traditions of our race and will be equal to the present

It mannet be said that we of the frish race are not true to the land of our adoption. We have left our mark the pages of American history to the credit of our ancient race; but we also want to leave a fitting monument, that future generations will know that we did exist, and to serve as a milestone on the pathway of time.

We of this generation have no fault to find with those who preceded us; they did their work wisely and well; our they have laid it down and complete

It is a lamentable fact that in this city with its vast Irish population we have no common hearthstone we can call our own.
